Are you ready for a kick in the head? "What I Learned Today" by J.D. King Thursday, October 24, 2012 Finding God in Me I see myself as a failing student of God. Although I am a baptized Christian, I can't seem to embrace the truth of God in me. I spend so much time doing good things and doing them well. I accept that I am not perfect, but you and I both know that I am far from perfect. And I also know that I'm not doing it with God. I know that I am not being a good steward of the talents God has given me and that I am wasting valuable time and energy. I know I am not doing much to seek Him out. I know that he is looking for me, not vice versa. I know these things. I know them to be true. And yet, I can't seem to grasp my own failing in relationship to God. I hear the silent accusation again and again. I do good works, but I do them with the name of Christ on them. I am convinced that I am a Christian. I am convinced that I believe in God and in Jesus Christ. And yet, I still can't see myself as pleasing to God. I know that I've made a spiritual commitment, but I can still feel the pressure of the approval of other people.
